Shoes, uniform and slipknot

Shoes uniform and slipknot around your neck
And another day starts
Working closed in a cell
To increase the corporate turnover
Even at the cost of the global ecosystem devastation
Every animal race every life can collapse

Prisoner of your mind
Jailer of your own body
Born slave of yourself
Born dead an abortion

You're a dead man walking
On the streets cruising around hopes which are already buried
By centuries of in-volutions

Prisoner of your mind
Jailer of your own body
Born slave of yourself
Born dead an abortion

Breathing the death

Traders of death dealers of solutions
Sell you life giving illusions
The profit is worth more than every human life
You are the puppet of motherfuckers

Nanopathologies fatal dusts
They burn the problem with lethal diseases
When the air kills you they've bought your fate
Devoured by cancer breathing death

You look at black clouds who came from their chimneypots
Expanding on the planet among people and children
Between data given not letting you know
Who's breathing death thinking to be safe

Nanopathologies deadly dusts
They burn the problem with lethal diseases
When the air kills you they bought your fate
Devoured by cancer breathing death

Imagine

Imagine a world devastated
By egoism and ignorance
Entities without emotions
Share fragments of an alliance
Living symbiotically
Producing hatred and resentment
Slaves of themselves
Prisoners of their own interests

Open your eyes look around (yourself)
All this is part
Of your world
Everything is part of this torture
An existence made of fear

This is the price of their actions
This is the price of their decision
Their profits won't pay off
The infected air I can't breathe anymore

Imagine the air that infects your lungs
Imagine enchained men whipped by their masters while
Cursing the day when they were born

Open your eyes
Look around
All this is part
Of your world

Age of man

The wind was blowing lightly
Shaking blades of grass
The dew drops placed on flowers
Were reflecing the sunbeams

The human advent on the planet
Was a hurricane of death and devastation
It bended the laws dictated by the world
Condemning it to a sordid end

Hot air blows violently
Making empty skulls roll
The arid land has vanished
Raped by the human arrogance

The sun beats down upon the rocks
Of a landscape that's always the same
The ubiquitous death

In a world dominated by evil

The human advent on the planet
Was a hurricane of death and devastation
It bended the laws dictated by the world
Condemning it to a sordid end

Think and refuse

Until I'll exhale my last breath
I will scream louder, as long as I am alive
Only one thought only one answer
Fight and refuse with no rest

Only death will rip off me
The ideas you will never accept
Only death will drown in sleep
The need to think and refuse

I dig my nails, ignoring my destiny
I don't accept the rules of your paradise
Paradise of hypocrite promises and illusion
A hell of intolerance and absurd believes

Only death will rip off me
The ideas you will never accept
Only death will drown in sleep
The need to think and refuse